

submitting your passport application is a quick trip away.

With thousands of Post Office™ locations that accept passport applications, the U.S. Postal Service® makes it convenient to apply for your passport.

Follow these steps.

Visit usps.com/passport to locate a Post Office near you that offers passport services (you can even find locations with passport photo services). Next, print out a passport application online (Form DS-11) or get one when you visit a designated Post Office to submit the application. If you're applying for a passport for the first time (or if you're ineligible to renew by mail), you need to submit your application in person. If you complete the passport application in advance, DO NOT SIGN IT. You will be required to sign it in person when you bring it to the Post Office. As detailed on the checklist at the right, you'll also need to present proof of citizenship, proof of identity, and two passport photos when you submit your passport application.

Apply early.

It's best to apply for your passport several months before your planned trip outside the United States. For current passport processing times, please visit travel.state.gov.

In a hurry?

Express Mail® is the fastest way to ship your application there and back. It is guaranteed overnight to many locations. Plus, you can track it online at usps.com. Ask your Retail Associate for details.

Ask about the new Passport Card.

As of February 1, 2008, we are accepting applications for the new U.S. Passport Card. To learn more about the benefits of this card, visit travel.state.gov.
